3' Our space on the parade few months. route will be on 16th Avenue N.W. between 6th and 7th Streets, on SOUTH side.

4. A special Constable, No 7, who will be in charge of the block, will assist in placing the children, and all children would do well to be tagged with this same number.

5. Each child will be supplied with a half-pint bottle of milk, also a badge, to be distributed at the Balmoral headquarters.

6. It will be necessary for all children to be at the Balmoral school, ready to proceed to the allocated space on the parade route not later than 2:00 p.m.

7. It is suggested that adequate food be brought for the children as all restaurants will undoubtedly be taxed to their limit on this day.

8. It is suggested that all (continued on page seven)—See MAY 26 DOINGS

CROSSFIELD, THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1939

Around Field And Barn.

By E.M.C.

It is becoming more noticeable that there are too many farmers and their families in this and other districts who quite openly voice their dissaproval and indifference to the visit of our King and Queen. They resent all reference, and neglect to take any part in expressions of loyalty to the Throne or to

Not all such come from Europe, or from south of the line; some were born in Canada and the west. They refuse to recognize the undoubted fact, that they are protected and rendered secure, by the far-reaching implications of the British Crown Some of these uninformed persons should remember they are now British subjects, having taken citizenship papers in expectation of receiving twenty-five dollars (or maybe more) per month (by Christmas).

That they themselves should prefer to remain aloof from any expression of loyalty to the Throne is not of great importance. The unfortunate and irritating aspect of their attitude, is the reaction of the youth who come under their influence and direction

This type of moron is not numerous, but none the less obvious, and something of a nuisance.

It may be well to mention that this Dominion has many exits, and no frontiers. Those wishing to take advantage of this freedom may do so and take with them whatever measure of wealth they have been free to gather, under the protection of the King. They are even free to return, which of course they would never wish to do,

No one is expected to slobber and snob, but all national people are expected to appreciate the value and meaning of the Throne, and the deep significance of the Royal visit.

Some people just like to be different, and whenever possible, difficult.

In 1372, King Robert the Second gave his daughter and her husband the Chanedom of Glamis, and seventy-three years later the grandson of Sir John Lyon was created Lord Glamis. Two centuries after the honor was bestowed, Lord Glamis, who was the ninth to hold this title, was made the Earl of Kinghorne and his grandson became the Earl of Strathmore and Str. thdichtie, In more recent times, the grandfather of the present Queen was created the Baron Bowes of Streathlam Castle and Lunedale which is the title of the pearage that allows the Earl to take his seat in the House of Lords. But not only is she descended from the most ancient and honourable family in Scotland since her father is the fourteenth Earl of Strathmore which is sufficient distinction in itself, but on her maternal side she is connected with very famous English families since her mother, who was Nina Cecelia, daughter of the late Rev. G.W.F. Cavendish Bentinck, and first cousin of the Duke of Portland, is also from an old family whose traditional ancestors can be traced back for many years.

One of the Ravers

Editor Crossfield Chronicle, Dear Sir:

I have read with much interest a number of letters in your paper, dealing with Government grants to municipal districts for road building. If I may enter this discussion, I would like to enter at a point on which we may all agree, if during the discussion, opinions differ, we should remember that differences of opinion are a democratic privilege.

I think we all agree that good roads are one of the greatest assets to any community and any effort to obtain these good roads is certainly a worthy one. However, during these times, the necessary money to build these roads is very hard to get.

One of your correspondents appears to favour Government grants, another apparently, wise to the fact that all government grants must come from some form of taxation, doesn't seem to think so much of the government grant method, and I am very much of that opinion myself although under some circumstances the case is altered.

Now information wich I have from a reliable source is to the effect that some money will be available. So the first important duty of a municipal district is to get in line for any grant that is available. And I can definitely say that the first thing is the removal of back taxes.

In order to get in line for any available grant, municipalities will have to extend to their ratepayers the privilege of working out their back taxes,

Now there is room for a lot of discussion on this subject. First we must realize that any grant given by the government must have been collected in some form of tax, so money granted represents taxes paid, and it would certainly not be fair for a government to give money collected as a tax to a district where the taxes weren't paid. I have heard it said that farmers won't work out their taxes and they won't pay them either, I heard a Councillor (not of this municipal district) state that the government made it increasingly hard for municipalities to collect taxes because farmers would not come out to work and if the council tried to sell a farm for taxes, the minister witheld his consent and the district was out the cost of the proceedure.

At the present time a good many farmers can't afford to work out their back taxes even if they are willing, because going on the road with any kind of an outfit incurs certain expense and they haven't anything to cover that expense-

That obstacle is removed by the tax remission scheme of the Provincial Government So that it a municipal district enters into the scheme and offers the opportunity of working out arrears of taxes and the farmer refuses to either work out or pay his taxes, the consent of the minister will no longer be withheld and the council can proceed with its action.

To be concluded.

11, Respect is also urged for orders given by Police and Special Constables on duty for the day, and the Central committee and Police Department solicit the whole-hearted co-operation of the public to assure the success of this important occasion in the history of the city by faciliating the movement of the Royal Procession and the prevention of accidents,

From the fore-going instructions it would appear as though the Medal being given to all school-children by the Dominion Government will be distributed at the Balmoral school, and teachers should keep this fact in mind as every child will want one of these. Other instructions and information issued for the guidance of the general public by the City of Calgary Police department are as follows:

1. Vehicles will not be allowed to park or stand on the Royal Route or within one block of the route after 11 a.m.

2. "No Parking" will be post ed in prominent places along the route and on intersecting streets and avenues.

3. Persons will not be allowed to stand on roofs.

4. Persons will not be allowed to stand on Centre St. Bridge or Louise Bridge.

INTERESTING SERVICE AT UNITED CHURCH

A congregation that filled the building gathered Sunday evening for Mothers' Day service in the United Church. The platform was banked with planks by the Sunday school. A pageant revealing the surprise of Rev. Charles Gordon, of Banff, upon looking up a ranch home in the toothills, that his mother had proven a great inspiration to the wife years previously was well prepared by Anne Cameron and given by Nora Fleming, Jean Carmichael, Maxine Mair, Jack Fleming, John Carmichael and George Fleming. Verna Pogue and Ernest Kinsey sang "My Mother's Prayer" and Mrs. Fleming the solo "That Wonder tul Mother of Mine." The choir also rendered an appropriate anthem. The pastor's subject was "Remembering according to Lov ing Kindness."

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt were congratulated by the good wishes of the congregation, a gift of beautitul roses from the Rodney congregation, a georgeous sheaf of mixed flowers from the Crossfield Ladies Aid, a cleverly decorated cake from a member of the Madden congregation, and good wishes expressed in lighter vein by Rev. J. E. Ball who arrived with his family at the conclusion of their service. Mr. Ball intimated pleasant contacts over a number of years and his discovery that in 1911 he and Mr. Hunt had been received as probationers for the ministry of the Methodist church, although in widely-separated conferences. Mr. and Mrs Wm. Stralo Mr. and Mrs. Yellowlees who had recently reached their 20th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. F. Purvis who have entered their 40th year and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stafford their 45th were also congratulated. Mr and Mrs R Walsh of Madden had the record among those pre sent of the most years of wedded life, having passed their 48th an- Oneil, as announced in other columns. niversary on April 30th.
